Claws for Celebration

Gooooo gumbol!

Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre, along with a host of other church and community volunteers, have been busy this weekend cooking and serving local seafood favorites to the many thousands of visitors at the 21st annual OLG Crab Festival. The event continues today from 11 a.m. till 10 p.m. on the church grounds, Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis. (Echo photos by Bennie Shallbetter)

Police, fire officials on alert for the Fourth

Make plans to arrive early to view fireworks display

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
PUBLISHER EMERITUS

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police Departments, all plan to have extra officers out for today and Monday, July 4th to handle increased holiday traffic.

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Frank McNeal said there will be extra officers patrolling the area on North Beach Boulevard in uniform, on bicycles, 4-wheelers, and autos this evening for the annual fireworks display at Casino Magic.

McNeal added, "The Cedar Point Boat Launch will be closed to vehicles and launching at 6 p.m. North Beach Blvd. past Engman will be kept open at all times. After the watching area is filled, traffic will be diverted down Engman. There will be two-way traffic on Engman, one-way traffic will be on Cedar Ridge away from the beach. We are asking everyone to cooperate."

Waveland's Assistant Police Chief Michael Prendergast reported, "We plan on having extra officers out in all areas of the city, especially along Beach Boulevard. The sand beach is a popular place, and one of the safer places, to discharge fireworks. Everyone needs to be extremely careful."

Hancock Sheriff's Department Road Patrol Captain Joe Herrin stated, "We will have extra deputies on patrol throughout the county Sunday and July 4th. For sure deputies will be on the lookout for DUI's, speeders, road rage, etc., while on their patrols."

"Along North Beach Boulevard, please park early if you plan to B.B.Q., and view the fireworks. We want everyone to have an enjoyable time," Chief McNeal added.

Ladner, Lee compete in national rodeo championships

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
STAFF WRITER

This weekend two local girls are on their way to Gallup, New Mexico's Red Rock Park to compete in the world's largest junior high rodeo. Eighth grader Brooke A. Ladner and sixth grader Rachel Lee will compete for $75,000 in prizes, $50,000 in scholarships and the chance to be named the Wangler Junior High finals Rodeo National Champion.

To win the title the girls must finish in the top fifteen after two go-rounds of intense competition before advancing to the final championship performance. The rodeo will be held July 5th-July 8th. Ladner will compete in the poles, barrels and goat tying division and Lee will compete in breakaway roping.

The rodeo features more than 700 contestants from 29 states and one Canadian Province. This year the Friday finals will be televised nationally on the RFD TV, as a part of the "20X Rodeo High" telecast series. To view the program check local listings or access the website at www.rodeohigh.com for more information.

Ladner is the daughter of Glenn and Monica Ladner and Lee is the daughter of Roland and Dawn Lee. Both are students at Hancock Middle School.

The trip to New Mexico won't be all competition. Park manager Bill Lee has plenty of off time activities planned to entertain the competitors and their families. Teens will have the opportunity to hike nature trails, get lessons in rock rappelling and take a tethered hot air balloon ride, among other activities. Red Rock Park ranges in elevation from 6,600 to 7,000 feet above sea level and is framed on three sides by red cliffs.

Corps seeks comments on Pearlington sewer project

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Interested parties are hereby notified that the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Vicksburg District, and the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality are considering an application for a Department of the Army Permit and State Water Quality Certification for the work described herein. Comments should be forwarded to the Vicksburg District, ATTN: CEMVK-OD-F and the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality at Post Office Box 10385, Jackson, MS 39289-0385, and must reach these offices by the cited expiration date. Law Requiring a Permit: Section 10 of the Rivers and Harbors Act of 1899 (33 U.S.C. 403), which applies to structures or work in navigable waters of the United States and Section 404 of the Clean Water Act (33 U.S.C. 1344), which applies to discharges of dredged or fill material into waters of the United States.

Name of Applicants: Southern Regional Wastewater Management District, Post Office Box 110, Waveland, Mississippi 39576; and the Pearlington Water & Sewer District, Post Office Box 160, Pearlington, Mississippi 39572.

The treatment facility would temporarily be permitted by Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality to discharge into Pate Bayou until the permanent treatment facility is completed. The permanent treatment facility would be a spray irrigation system consisting of a 200,000 gallon-per-day wastewater treatment plant with a post aeration and pumping station.

Vegetation on the regulated portion of the proposed project site consists of switchgrass, nodding beakrush, blunt spikerush, coastal plain yellow-eyed grass, and fox-tail clubmoss under a rowed and bedded pine plantation.

The proposed construction activities would be required to meet state and/or local storm water runoff regulations.

The placement of dredged and/or fill material in wetlands and other waters of the United States associated with the mechanized land clearing and the directional drilling of pipelines under navigable waterways require a Department of the Army Permit.

Upon reviewing this notice, you should write to this office to provide your opinion of the impacts this work will have on the natural and human environment and address any mitigation you believe is necessary to offset these impacts. Other comments are welcome, but the above information will further our review of the applicant's plan as proposed. Comments of a general nature are not as helpful as those specific to the impacts of the subject project.

State Water Quality Permit: The State Pollution Control Agency must certify that the described work will comply with the State's water quality standards and effluent limitations before a Corps permit is issued.

Cultural Resources: An initial review indicates that the proposed project would not affect any of the sites in Hancock Parish listed in the National Register of Historic Places. Copies of this notice have been sent to the State Historic Preservation Officer, Federally Recognized Tribes, the Corps archaeologists, and other interested parties for comment on potential effects to cultural resources that could result from this activity.

Opportunity for a Public Hearing: Any person may make a written request for a public hearing to consider this permit application. This request must be submitted by the public notice expiration date and must clearly state why a hearing is necessary. Failure of any agency or individual to comment on this notice will be interpreted to mean that there is no objection to the proposed work. Please bring this announcement to the attention of anyone you know who might be interested in this matter.

Notification of Final Permit Actions: Each month, the final permit actions from the preceding month are published on the Vicksburg District Regulatory web page. To access this information, you may follow the link from the Regulatory web page, <http://www.mvk.usace.army.mil/offices/od/odf/main.asp> or go directly to the Final Permit Actions web page at <http://www.mvk.usace.army.mil/offices/od/odf/PubNotice/MonthlyNotice/pnmain.asp>

Local fire officials stress "safety" in fireworks use

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

The American traditions of parades, cookouts and fireworks helps celebrate the summer season, especially our nation's birthday on the Fourth of July.

Waveland Fire Chief David Garcia said, "However, fireworks can turn a joyful celebration into a painful memory when children and adults are injured while using fireworks."

"Although legal consumer fireworks that comply with federal regulations can be relatively safe, and can be purchased within the Waveland area. The Waveland Fire Department would like to encourage everyone that fireworks are hazardous and can cause injury. Fireworks are classified as 'hazardous substances' under the Federal Hazardous Substance Act," Garcia added.

Some fireworks such as illegal firecracker type devices (M-80's, quarter sticks) and professional display fireworks should never be used or handled by consumers or children due to serious injuries and death that can and do occur from such use and handling.

Bay St. Louis Deputy Fire Chief Pam SanFilippo said, "Nearly 10,000 people - half of those are kids under 15, are injured every year while using fireworks. Fireworks, including sparklers and bottle rockers, are not toys! Remember that all fireworks are explosive devices that can cause severe burns, amputations and disfiguring injuries."

"The safest way to enjoy Fourth of July celebrations is by attending public fireworks displays conducted by professional pyrotechnicians," SanFilippo stated.

If you do use legal fireworks, among the suggestions from Garcia and SanFilippo include:

- * The first and foremost important is that fireworks should be used always with extreme caution.

- * Always purchase fireworks from reliable sources.
- * Always follow the label directions carefully.
- * Do not let children play or use them.

- * Always use fireworks outdoors in a clear area and away from buildings, houses, dry leaves, dry grass, flammable materials and vehicles.

- * A responsible adult should closely supervise all fireworks activities. Never give fireworks to young children.

- * Do not try to re-light or handle malfunctioning fireworks. Soak them with water and throw them away.
- * Never carry fireworks in your pocket or shoot them in metal or glass containers.
- * Never point or throw fireworks at another person.
- * Never have any portion of your body directly over fireworks while lighting.

- * Do not make bombs by tying or binding fireworks together, these 'bombs' can cause severe injuries to anyone in the vicinity.
- * Be sure other people are out of range before lighting fireworks.
- * Light one at a time then move back quickly.
- * Do not experiment with homemade fireworks.
- * Do not throw fireworks from or at moving vehicles.
- * Have courtesy to your neighbor's who may work evenings and swing shifts and sleeps during the day.

State law states: In accordance with Section 45-13-9 of the Mississippi Code of 1972, as amended, no fireworks shall be sold or offered for sale at retail before the fifteenth day of June and after the fifth day of July.

It shall be unlawful to ignite or discharge fireworks of any type at any place other than private property or South of the beach road or the sand beach.

During extreme hazardous conditions, such as hurricane watches or warnings, dry conditions with no burn orders issued, it shall be unlawful to sell, ignite, or discharge fireworks.

Garcia did say, "The Waveland Fire Department would like to wish everyone a safe and happy Fourth of July. Also to remember the troops serving abroad and especially the soldiers with the Mississippi National Guard 155th Brigade from the Bay St. Louis Army that are currently serving in Iraq in Operation Freedom."

During extreme hazardous conditions, such as

The Bay High Steppers Dance Team

Bay High School Stepper Dance Team are All-Stars

Members of the Bay High school stepper dance team recently completed the American All-Star Dance, Drill, and Cheer camp held at their school. While at American All-Star camp, the team learned creative performance routines. Many of the routines were choreographed specifically for the group.

The team also had the opportunity to learn officer responsibilities and the importance of a positive attitude.

At the conclusion of the camp, the girls performed all routines learned at camp to an audience of family and friends.

Their outstanding performance at the American All-Star camp proves the team is off to a great start. The girls can be seen performing for local school activities and sports events.

Chosen as members of the American All-Star Dance Team were: LeAnn Graves, Courtenay Ginn, Katie Morris, Anna Stuart, Brittany Keely, Robyn Buehler, Meghan Schmitt, and Alicia Mitchell.

In November, these girls will perform aboard Carnival Cruise Lines as they visit such exotic ports of call as San Juan, Puerto Rico, St. Thomas and St. Maarten, Virgin Islands.

Members of this team are selected from over 8,000 girls on the basis of positive attitude, exemplary character and excellent dancing and drill ability. At the conclusion of camp, awards were given to the following people:

Most Spirited Trophy

Camille Keith:
Most Outstanding Performance Katie Morris and Courtenay Ginn.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

Remember our men & women in the service

As you celebrate July 4th, please remember our young men and women who are in 'harm's way,' putting their lives on the line so we can have the many freedoms America offers.

Freedoms in America is something which did not just happen over night. Many Americans over the centuries have given their lives, just as there are today.

Wanting to be home with family is one thing service personnel really feel when national holidays are celebrated.

So, as you celebrate the Fourth, remember those gallant men and women in uniform, and say a prayer for them and their families too.

Today is the final day of the big Our Lady of the Gulf 21st annual Crab Fest.

There is still time to enjoy some very good seafoods at the Crab Fest, which make our community so popular.

The Crab Fest hours today are from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Live free entertainment from 1 to 5 p.m. today will be by Easy Street, while from 6 to 10 p.m., Shea Michaels band will perform.

In addition to the very good foods, there are all types of crafts booth, refreshments, drawings, things for the kids to do, big drawdown this evening, etc.

The OLG Crab Fest is held on the church's grounds, South Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis.

Don't forget the Casino Magic's Annual Fireworks Display tonight, July 3, in Bay St. Louis.

Many view the display from boats in the Bay and Jourdan River.

If you plan to launch your boat at the end of Beach Boulevard, you need to do it early as the launch will close at 6 p.m. for launching, according to Police Chief Frank McNeil.

There will also be special traffic flows on North Beach Boulevard, McNeil reports.

Also today and tomorrow, July 3rd and 4th, the 57th Annual Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo continues at Rice Pavilion in Gulfport.

The Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo is a salt water and fresh water free fishing rodeo, you just need to register before you fish for all ages.

The rodeo has 28 categories and presents daily prizes, special awards, and has a big display of fish for viewing.

Clark unveils new, more accurate screen voting machines for Mississippi

Secretary of State Eric Clark last week introduced new touch-screen voting machines that most Mississippians will use to cast ballots beginning in 2006.

"These voting machines will greatly improve the accuracy and integrity of every election in Mississippi," Clark said. "They are easy to use and are secure. Of all the machines we studied, they were the most 'user-friendly' and came at the lowest price. This purchase is another major step in making historic improvements to the elections process in our state."

Election Systems, which is providing statewide voting machines in Georgia, Maryland, Alaska, and Utah, was selected by a committee led by Clark and involving local election officials and representatives of the Mississippi Department of Information Technology Services (ITS). The ITS Board unanimously approved the purchase Tuesday, calling it one of the most thorough and careful in recent years. The cost of 5,164 new machines for the state is $15 million and includes trainings, maintenance, voter education, and technical support for the next five years. The purchase is funded by 95 percent federal money appropriated under the "Help America Vote Act" or HAVA, and 5 percent state matching funds.

Under federal law, all central scanner machines, lever machines, and punch-card machines must be replaced by 2006. More than 75 counties will be required by federal law to change to new, more accurate machines by January 1, 2006. In addition, at least one device that is fully accessible to the disabled must be in every polling place.

The new touch-screen machines, also known as DREs (Direct Recording Electronic device), will be used in most Mississippi counties beginning with the 2006 primary elections in June. The change to more accurate, accessible voting machines is mandated under HAVA, which was passed in response to numerous election problems in Florida and other states

Supervisors should consider resident's needs

On May 2, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors voted to rezone over 1000 acres in the Clermont Harbor-Lakeshore-Bayou Caddy neighborhood to a commercial resort area. Despite vigorous public protest, the Supervisors opened a large portion of this county's rare coastal wetlands for casinos, resorts and condominium developments with no height and no density restrictions.

Soon after, a group of citizens who live in the neighborhood filed a lawsuit, or Bill of Exceptions, to appeal the decision. On May 31 one of the developers, Paradise Properties Group, LLC, filed a motion to intervene in the lawsuit. This "intervention" means the developers are actually joining forces with the Supervisors against the citizens in the appeal process.

Paradise Properties Group claims that the action filed by the citizen's group may "impair or impede its ability to protect their interest," and that "it is causing damage to this developer and other developers and is delaying the project, causing said developers time and money."

They are demanding that a financial bond be posted by the citizens group in order to protect the interests of the developers. They also want the group to be forced to pay for the developer's legal costs.

One must wonder why Paradise Properties Group would demand a financial sanction against a group of citizens who are participating in our democracy in a proper legal fashion. Surely they understand that our nation guarantees every citizen the right to challenge the government when we believe that it has made an incorrect decision. It is a fundamental part of our system of checks and balances. It is also hard to believe that PPG expect their demands to be met by a court of law; it seems much more likely that this is a tactic designed to intimidate anyone who might dare challenge them, now or in the future.

This isn't the first time that developers have used intimidation tactics. In 1999 Casino World, who wanted to place a casino on the north shore of Bay St. Louis, also tried to intimidate opponents with a lawsuit demanding attorneys' fees.

Letters to the Editor

The Court dismissed the action. Admonishing the developers for their demands, the judge stated that "citizen groups are permitted, under the American form of government, to fight development groups at every turn. This country is dedicated to the proposition that all citizens have the right to petition their government for redress of their grievances, real or perceived." He referred to the developers' stance on proposed tax benefits as "a hollow attempt to influence this court to ignore the fundamental and irrefutable right" of citizens groups to seek redress. "Such rights," he concluded, "cannot be swept away for mere economic concerns." The judge? Charles Pickering.

It appears that Paradise Properties Group believes their economic concerns to be more important than our constitutional rights as American citizens. Imposing a large financial bond on the citizens group would effectively halt any review of local zoning decisions by the impartial courts. Shifting the attorney fees to the citizens group would have much the same effect.

We elect our county officials to represent our interests as a community, not the interests of a few outside developers who stand to become very wealthy. We expect our elected officials to be responsive to our needs as a whole. As co-founders of Coastal in the 2000 presidential election. The number of machines to be purchased comes to about one per 190 voters, based on turnout in the past two presidential and gubernatorial elections.

Clark -- touch-screen voting machines

Diebold already has had a very strong presence in Mississippi for years, Clark noted. The company makes more than 90 percent of all bank ATM machines in Mississippi with 40 employees and $2.5 million annual economic impact.

"This company has accurately and securely kept up with Mississippians' money for years. They will do just as well keeping up with our votes," Clark said.

In 2004, counties used the following types of voting machines in Mississippi:

- Scanner machines with ballots counted at Courthouse: 51 counties;
  - Punch Card Machines: 10;
  - Lever Machines: 8;
  - Old scanner machines with ballots counted at precinct: 5;
  - New scanner machines with ballots counted at precinct: 4;
  - Touch-screen machines (DRE): 2;
  - Old Shouptronc machines: 2.
- Touch-screen machines make it impossible for a voter to vote for more than one candidate for a single office, and also give voters a second chance to make sure they have indicated their choice for every office. These features greatly reduce the potential for voter error. Analysis of the 2004 presidential vote indicates that more than 54,000 Mississippians may have had their votes not counted due to inaccurate and out-of-date voting machines. The highest error rates were seen on punch card, lever, and central scanner machines.

In addition to greater accuracy, the new machines are fully accessible to all voters, regardless of disability. A Mississippian who is blind, hearing or visually impaired, or physically challenged can cast his or her ballot in private on the new machines.

Mississippi has received $29.5 million in federal and state matching funds to implement changes required by HAVA. Congress is currently working on the third and final year of funding, which combined with state matching funds will bring an additional $6 million to improve the elections process.

"I'm pleased that Senators Cochran and Lott, as well as Congressmen Wicker, Thompson, Pickering, and Taylor have been unanimous in their support for funding these important reforms," Clark said. "I am urging full funding in this final year so we can make additional improvements to the process and these new voting machines."

Clark indicated that if Congress fully funds HAVA in the next federal budget, he would push for a "voter-verified paper trail" for all new machines used in the state. This device would allow voters to see a paper printout of their selections in each race before casting their ballots. The printed ballots serve as backup for the electronically tallied votes.

The present-day cost of those additional devices would be approximately $1.5 to $2 million. The new Diebold machines are fully compatible with voter-verified printers.

"We may see a 'voter-verified' paper trail required by the federal Election Assistance Commission," Clark said. "The machines we are buying today are secure and tamper-proof. Adding that feature can only further bolster the confidence of Mississippi voters."

Clark also emphasized that full funding is necessary to meet federal requirements so that unfunded mandates are not passed down to county governments. Clark's office will conduct extensive voter education effort before the machines are used in a state election. Secretary of State staff will be in every one of the state's 82 counties in the coming months to work with local officials and give voters the opportunity to thoroughly familiarize themselves with the new machines.

"Voter education and training for county officials and pollworkers are essential to improving our elections," Clark said.

The use of touch-screen machines has dramatically increased the accuracy of vote counting in other states and reduced the number of "residual votes," those ballots thrown out and not counted. A CalTech/MIT study of the 2004 presidential election found that "The greatest residual votes gains were not made in the states where new voting machines were upgraded in a piecemeal fashion. Rather, voting machine upgrades were the most effective when the entire state was involved. The best example was Georgia, which switched over entirely to one type of voting machine (Diebold) and engaged in an unprecedented voter education effort. It is likely that the combined effects of these two actions, not either one alone, that led to Georgia's stunning improvements (CalTech/MIT Voting Technology Project "Residual Vote in the 2004 Election")."

Georgia, which put new Diebold touch-screen machines in every polling place in 2004, reported the second-greatest improvement in election accuracy in the country. The state reduced its uncounted ballots, or residual votes, from 3.5 percent to 0.39 percent. Georgia Secretary of State Cathy Cox credits the new machines with saving the votes of 103,000 citizens which likely would have been thrown out if older voting machines had been used.

"[Our success] is due to the overall preparedness of election officials, poll workers and voters, as well as Diebold going above and beyond the call of duty to help the state implement this enormous endeavor," Secretary Cox said.

"By making a single, statewide purchase, we get the best price per machine: what I call the 'Wal-Mart effect' of buying in bulk,"

Clark said. "A more unified system will also improve accuracy, reduce voter confusion, and simplify training for election workers. In addition, linking these machines to our new statewide voter registration system will allow our office to post unofficial statewide election returns on our website on election night."

Diebold's touch-screen machines (AccuVote-TSX) have been tested and certified by independent testing authorities approved by the National Association of State Election Directors and meet all current standards for accuracy and security set by the Federal Election Commission and the federal Election Assistance Commission.

Mississippi is moving forward with more election reforms outlined under HAVA, Clark said. The first statewide registry of voters will be in place by January to enable local election officials to maintain clean and accurate voter rolls. The Secretary of State's Office is working with county officials to ensure that all polling places will be handicapped accessible by 2006. And Clark has implemented changes to make it easier for military personnel and their families overseas to be able to vote.

There is also live entertainment at the Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo, which usually has around 3,000 trying to catch that 'big one.'

You may want to visit the fishing rodeo too.

A place I heard about very early in life was Brown's Vineyard.

As business establishments goes, it was probably Waveland's most popular spot in the late 18th and early 19th centuries.

So, it is only fitting that a Historical Marker was placed Wednesday on Highway by Lil' Ray's Restaurant, a portion of the land which was part of Brown's Vineyard.

Brown's Vineyard was very popular for its Scuppernong grape wine and a gathering place for picnics, dances, tours and parties.

Many of the area hotels would take guests by wagons to have a great time at Brown's Vineyard.

The vineyard was established in 1874 and continued until prohibition days of 1920.

If you interested, the Hancock County Historical Society has a bottle of Brown's Vineyard brew on display.

Momentum Mississippi passage is good economic news

To the Editor: Mississippi's economic development program received a huge boost this week with the passage of the Momentum Mississippi legislation. And, Hancock County and the Mississippi Coast played a major role to make this happen.

Hancock County's own J. P. Compretta, Speaker Pro Tem of the Mississippi House of Representatives, provided great leadership to insure that the best legislation was passed for a long term approach to assure economic success of our state. He, along with Speaker Billy McCoy and others in the House and Senate, along with the Governor and private sector leaders from the Mississippi Manufacturing Association and the Mississippi Economic Council like George Schloegel and Anthony Topazi, and so many others worked together to take this incentive bill to the next level. Specifically the bill expands opportunities to help existing industry by protecting jobs that are "at risk" to outsourcing to foreign nations.

Locally, it is significant news for high tech businesses and industry like Polymer Technologies (MPT). MPT is an entrepreneurial company located in Hancock County at Port Bienvenue that develops, produces, and markets Parmax® Self Reinforced Polymers (SRPs), a family of ultra-high performance thermoplastic materials. Prior to the passage of Momentum Mississippi, there was little to no incentives for this company and others like MPT to do business here. EADS NA is another example of a non-traditional manufacturing that could have benefited from this type of legislation.

While we were all disappointed we did not land this significant project, we should be proud of the effort we put forth as a region to showcase our resources. This work, together with the impetus this new legislation creates, will not go unnoticed by other companies who may be considering our area for relocation and expansion. And, when our next opportunity comes, and it will, we will be ready.

Sincerely,
Hal Walters, Executive Director
Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission

BSL inauguration ceremony 2005

Fountain to perform benefit concert for St. Rose

Legendary jazz musician Pete Fountain and the nationally acclaimed St. Rose De Lima Gospel Choir, will perform a special concert at 8 p.m. Friday, July 15 in the Casino Magic Bay St. Louis Entertainment Complex. All proceeds from the concert ticket sales will benefit the building fund for the new St. Rose Parish Community Center, scheduled to be complete by December 2005.

"This joint performance will be a true exhibition of God given talents at their best," asserts St. Rose's Father Sebastian Myladiyi. "Our sincere gratitude to Pete Fountain and the management of Casino Magic for their great support in taking us closer to our dream - completion of the St. Rose Parish Community Center by December 2005."

The talented voices of the St. Rose choir have captured the attention of visitors from around the world and filled the hearts of those who attend the standing-room-only Catholic masses in old town Bay St. Louis. Fountain, now a Bay St. Louis resident was honored to be asked to perform with them.

General seating tickets are $20 and are available at the St. Rose De Lima parish office by calling 228-467-7347, or can be purchased in the Oak Royale Room during Pete Fountain's regular performances on Tuesday and Wednesday nights at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis. You must be at least 21 to attend. Tickets are limited, so be sure to purchase your tickets early!

"We are dedicated to the enrichment of our community and encourage everyone to come out for a special evening of uplifting songs and music for a very worthy cause," added Casino Magic President John Jagunich.

Diamondhead Arts and Crafts Show

The 22nd annual Arts and Creative Crafts Show at Diamondhead will be held on Saturday, September 17 from 9:30 a.m. till 5 p.m. and Sunday, September 18 from 10 a.m. till 4 p.m. on the County Club Circle and grounds. Over 150 booths will be set up with hand-made crafts and multimedia art works for sale. No admission charge.

Sandwiches and drinks will be provided by the Diamondhead Country Club and be available both inside the clubhouse and at an outside concession.

Diamondhead is located at Exit 16, off Interstate 10.

All proceeds from booth space fees are donated to the Diamondhead Community Association Continuing Education and Youth Summer Program who are dedicated to providing educational enrichment programs in the community, and the Diamondhead Youth Organization, dedicated to providing recreational activities and opportunities to the youth of Diamondhead. Both are non profit organizations.

Hancock Bank acquires insurance leader J. Everett Eaves, Inc.

One of New Orleans's oldest property and casualty insurance agencies has officially joined one of America's strongest and safest financial institutions, headquartered in Gulfport, MS.

Recently, officials representing Hancock Bank (Hancock) and J. Everett Eaves, Inc. (JEE) signed the proverbial dotted lines in an all cash transaction finalizing Hancock's acquisition of JEE as a division of Hancock Insurance Agency, a subsidiary of Hancock Bank. The joint announcement confirms Hancock's intent to purchase JEE made on June 13, 2005. The acquisition expands Hancock's insurance presence in LA; Hancock also operates in MS, AL, and FL.

Under the terms of the transaction, J. Everett Eaves will maintain its existing agency team and operational structure, including its current Poydras Center and Covington offices.

According to Chris Roth, JEE's corporate head, Hancock Insurance Agency, "Both J. Everett Eaves and Hancock Insurance Agency represent some of the nation's most well respected carriers. We believe this mutually beneficial partnership will enhance the breadth of insurance options we can offer Hancock's banking customers and will introduce J. Everett Eaves customers to Hancock's comprehensive lines of financial services."

John L. Beckmann, Jr., president of JEE says, "With more and more bank owned insurance agencies nationwide, we believe the timing is perfect to forge this partnership between J. Everett Eaves and Hancock. This venture is a win-win partnership, allowing us to bring stronger insurance resources to Hancock while offering our customers Hancock's wide spectrum of financial services."

Established in 1899 on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, Hancock Bank entered the New Orleans market with a legacy as a Gulf South financial leader committed to understanding and serving local communities. Hancock Insurance Agency, founded in 1902, is a wholly owned subsidiary of Hancock Bank.

Agents & Brokers of America (AABA) recently named Hancock Insurance Agency a "Best Practices" agency.

Last year, Hancock acquired Ross-King-Walker, Inc., a well-known Hattiesburg based property and casualty insurance pioneer.

Holiday closings

Independence day celebrations will be observed on Monday, July 4. All government offices in Hancock County will be closed for the day. The Fourth of July is a Bank Holiday as well. The Sea Coast Echo will also be closed, and normal business hours will resume on Tuesday, July 5.

Any garbage normally collected Monday will be collected Tuesday.

StennisSpace, the visitor center at NASA's Stennis Space Center near Bay St. Louis, will be closed Monday, July 4, in observance of Independence Day. StennisSpace will resume normal operations Tuesday, July 5, at 10 a.m.

StennisSpace is open daily until 5 p.m. Public tours begin at 10 a.m., and group tours with their own transportation can have earlier admittance.

Stennis Space Center is America's largest rocket engine test complex, where every Space Shuttle Main Engine is test fired and proven flight-worthy. Free tours begin at the Launch Pad, located at the Hancock County Welcome Center, I-10, Exit 2. All visitors age 18 and older must present a valid photo I.D., such as a driver's license or passport. For more information, call (228) 688-2370 or 1-800-237-1821 or visit: <http://www1.ssc.nasa.gov/public/visitors/>

Book features the beauty of Horn Island

Several miles off the Mississippi coast, Horn Island rises out of the sea. A wilderness of slash pine, sea oaks, and osprey, the barrier island stirs the imagination, nourishes the spirit and challenges the soul. It is as unforgiving as it is lovely, with a story that unfolds as a natural pageant of sand, water, and wind. Horn of Plenty: Seasons in an Island Wilderness (University Press of Mississippi) tells the story of this natural treasure.

Walter Anderson, artist and naturalist, fell under Horn Island's spell and painted myriad watercolors of its crabs, fish, birds, and butterflies in some of his most vivid and memorable work. Anderson's escape and April Newlin's refuge weave together in a rich and intimate portrait of this seductive and mythic landscape. In a series of encounters over seasons and years, Newlin captures the island's intricate details from the terror of raging wind to the tickle of a snail's foot. She camps on the edges, hikes the interior, and wades the lagoons, immersed entirely in fourteen rugged miles of woods, ponds, and marsh. In her prose, the island begins to coalesce as an intense and transformative place, a wilderness beyond the grip of mainland sprawl.

Over the years, Horn Island has been ignored and abused as well as studied and enjoyed. Today, it is protected as a result of a devoted few who fought development and won. Donald Bradburn—naturalist, physician, and inaugural winner of the Sierra Club's Ansel Adams Award for Conservation Photography—was one of those on the front lines. His photographs of Horn Island were instrumental in securing the public's understanding and commitment.

Recipient of a Florida

Press Association Award for Outdoor Writing, April Newlin, New Orleans, is a clinical psychologist and a freelance nature writer. Donald Bradburn, New Orleans, was the inaugural winner of the Sierra Club's Ansel Adams Award for Conservation Photography.

Talkie, Talkie, Taxes

Views From a Front Porch

by Paul Estronza
LaViolette

hcn@comcast.net
www.annabellpublishing.com

I was in Hubbard's Hardware the other day when the conversation at the counter turned to the topic of the day, Condos. As I listened, three remarks stood out.

One person said he was happy with the condos. "I can't lose. Property values are going to go sky high. My property will double in the next five years." Another said, "I live on Blue Meadow Road. These condos are so far away they don't bother me one way or the other."

The third person addressed someone's fear that property taxes will up. "Don't matter, my property's valued at less than $75,000." He lives on Aiken Road, retired and over 65. His remarks were perhaps the most interesting. Retirees make up a big portion of the county population, many over 65.

But all three remarks are interesting. Collectively, they reflect the thoughts of many Hancock residents. Forget the physical entity of the condos for a moment. Forget wetlands and ecology deterioration, infrastructure blossoming, road widening and the other hues and cries. Let's zero in on these three remarks.

Since 2000, property values in Hancock County have risen considerably. The last round of property assessment values in 2002 resulted in almost everyone having a healthy increase in property taxes. There was a great deal of screaming going on.

The Hancock County Tax Assessor, Jimmy Ladner, defended his office's new assessments. "It's not me initiating the property value assessments, it's the law. Property taxes in the state of Mississippi are set by the going market values. When market values rise, the assessed values of properties within the market area must rise accordingly."

(In further defense of Ladner, I should state that his job is to assess the value of properties within the county. The actual specifying of how much taxes are paid for these properties is done by the three taxing agencies: the cities (i.e., Waveland or Bay St. Louis), the local school boards, and by the Hancock County

Barking up the Right Tree

Jack, a two-and-a-half-year-old Jack Russell terrier owned by Tommy Bordages, is famous for his climbing ability. He frequently accompanies Bordages (at Bayou Caddy, below) on fishing trips and has his own lifejacket.

A man & his dog enjoy Paradise at Bayou Caddy

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Though Jack is rumored to meet and greet all the guests who show up at Bordage's Marina and Bait Camp, when I arrived at about lunch time late last week, he was taking a siesta in his chair. The chair, a white plastic one near the table upstairs, reads JACK on the rounded back.

Almost completely white himself, especially with his eyes closed, Jack, a two and a half year old Jack Russell terrier, blended perfectly with the chair. He didn't budge to greet me. But when I picked up the camera to try to catch him sleeping, his eyes popped open and he was up in a flash. I really think he smelled the lunch his "baby-sitter" Donald Hendricks had just brought to the table.

Donald is one of Jack's biggest fans and keeps watch over him when owner Tommy Bordages is away. Actually, Jack has quite a

1965 - Plans announced for giant shopping center on corner of Dunbar and Hwy. 90

TEN YEARS AGO
June 25, 1995 - Bay St. Louis city officials are giving serious thought to reactivating the old municipal lagoon for sewage treatment - utilizing modern biotechnology to save millions of dollars. While the idea is in "very, very preliminary" stages, says Mayor Eddie Favre, the city has informed the Southern Regional Wastewater District of the possibility. The lagoon, lying between the Old Spanish Trail and CSX rail tracks, Webb and Third Streets, would be transformed into a system using aquatic plants to treat wastewater. More than 300 systems in North America use similar systems, developed by former NASA scientist Dr. B.D. Wolverton.

Waveland residents can no longer park vehicles, boats or any other obtrusive vehicle in the city's narrow streets, according to an emergency ordinance Wednesday by the board of aldermen. Violation of the ordinance will result in a fine and towing charge. The ordinance defines "narrow streets" and "narrow Roadways" as those that are "less than 20 feet wide."

90th Birthday

T.F. Monti celebrated his 90th birthday on June 29, 2005 with family and friends at 7 a.m. morning Mass at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. Father Michael Tracey officiating. Born in Bay St. Louis June 29, 1915, he and his wife Mary Benvenuti Monti have lived in Bay St. Louis all of their lives and have raised three sons, Tom, Bill and Joe, and one daughter, Mimi (Heitzmann) whom also reside in BSL, as well as many of T.F. and Mary's grand and great-grandchildren.

fan club, but he isn't famous for being friendly, although he is. He is famous for his climbing ability. The little dog climbs the enormous oak trees on the Bordages property and his agility would make a squirrel jealous. He runs along the large branches like he was born to climb. Jack was a birthday present to Tommy Bordages a couple of years back and ever since then, the two can't be parted.

"He requires a lot of attention," said Mr. Tommy. "When I sit in my lounge chair, he is in my lap."

Jack also goes fishing with Mr. Tommy when the weather permits. He has his own bright red life jacket.

"He fell overboard a couple of times so I got him the jacket," he said. "I can hardly leave him behind because he is following me down the bank, so I have to stop and pick him up."

Mr. Tommy goes fishing about five days a week and fishes for croaker, minnows and bait shrimp, just as his father Lionel Thomas Sr. and his uncles Wilfred, Ray, and Sam have been doing since the mid 1920's. His grandfather also fished for a living. Three generations of the Bordages family have made their living and loved the land the family owns at the edge of the world at Bayou Caddy.

Born entrepreneurs, the family recognized opportunity when they saw it. When a man came and asked to borrow a boat those many years ago, Mr. Tommy's Uncle Wilfred supplied him with the boat and some bait. The man paid him for the bait and when he took the dollar, a lot of money in those days, to his father John, the Bordages family business had its start.

Mr. Tommy was brought to the family property at Bayou Caddy when he was two days old and has been there ever since. If he has his way, he says, he will be there under the oaks, looking across the marsh, until he dies. Though he has been offered big bucks to sell out to condo developers, he hasn't. What more could the money buy, he says, when you already have paradise.

"There will be no condos here as long as I am alive," he says. "But we've been talking about it and figure the ones they plan to put up will probably make a nice buffer for hurricanes. I don't know about them though."

Just what his four children will decide, Mr. Tommy doesn't know, but he figures they won't have much of an interest living by the Bayou doing bait fishing, he says. Most have moved away to places like New York and Kansas City.

But to Mr. Tommy his world at the end of the road is the perfect place to be.

"I was born and raised in this business and I like taking care of the public-people depend on us," he said. "I tried working a couple of other jobs but I figured out quick that I had a good job here. It's peaceful at the end of the road and if anybody comes out that I don't like I can run them off."

The place holds a lot of family history-like the time Uncle Wilfred rode out a hurricane in the fork of the oak tree that sits by his grandfather's old house, and the time Camille covered the whole area with 18 feet of water. The family knew from experience by then not to try to ride that one out and were gone. In 1947 grandfather John fell off the end of the pier and died. The family thinks he had a heart attack, Mr. Tommy says. Mr. Tommy brought his wife, Diana, to the family property when they married. The couple raised four children there.

"She loves it now, but then I think she thought it was a little too quiet," he said. "She was from Los Angeles."

Back then the only light you could see was from the Tennessee gas beacon that many fishermen used to guide their way back into shore. When Mr. Tommy was growing up you couldn't see any lights, he said. Now there are many lights.

On a typical day Mr. Tommy heads out early to fish and may not return until late in the afternoon. Lately, he says, he has been coming back earlier. "I don't come back till I find what I am looking for."

Mostly he is looking for bait to sell to the sport fisherman who frequent his marina. There are lots of regular customers. Last week Mr. Tommy was back by noon and several customers gathered at the dock near their boats.

The talk centered mostly on the size of mosquitoes and the size of them at various locations around the country as compared to Bayou Caddy. Donald wonders how the condo residents will like what he calls "paradise bugs."

Talk also centers on the movement of the tide and how to find large schools of fish by watching birds. Someone remarks about how beautiful the full moon was a few nights back. Someone else talks about the huge red sun that appeared on the horizon that morning. An almost cool breeze blows across the bayou and along the dock. It really is paradise.

New rector at St. Thomas Episcopal

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Reverend Tucker E. Dawson, Jr., will serve St. Thomas Episcopal Church in Diamondhead as Interim Rector for the remainder of this year, according to Bobbie Stephens who is the Senior Warden there.

Fr. Dawson grew up in Baton Rouge and is a graduate of LSU. After six months on active duty with the National Guard and a year of teaching he entered the School of Theology at the University of the South in Sewanee, Tennessee. Upon graduation and ordination in 1962, he was assigned to St. Paul's Episcopal Church, New Orleans as Curate and headmaster of St. Paul's School. While at St. Paul, he met and married his wife, Margene Sweitzer. From St. Paul's he moved to Christ Episcopal Church, Slidell, Louisiana.

While in Slidell, his son Tucker was born. Fr. Dawson and his family then moved to Overland Park, Kansas, to St. Thomas the Apostle Episcopal Church. After serving in Overland Park, he moved back to New Orleans to St. Andrew's Episcopal, from which church he retired in 1998. Since retirement, he has served as Interim Rector for Christ Church, Slidell, and for St. Peter's-by-the-Sea in Gulfport Mississippi. He and his wife live in Waveland.

Wagner has presented the Hancock County Jail Committee with preliminary floor plans for a jail. Wagner addressed the committee Monday to present a plan for a triangular, two-story structure on a L-shaped site behind The Sea Coast Echo building on Court Street. The plan is designed to provide as much security as possible while utilizing a small staff, Wagner said. The plan meets federal and state standards, Wagner added, but Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said the county will probably apply for state certification because his department does not want state prisoners to be housed in the facility. The plan includes provision for television surveillance if such a system can be included in the project's $2.5 million budget.

June 17, 1965 - Plans for a giant shopping center on the southeast corner of Dunbar Avenue and U.S. 90 were announced late Wednesday by Herbert G. Brown, Opelousas, La., bank president, who is owner and developer of the six-acre tract. Brown old The Sea Coast Echo leases were already signed with A and P grocery chain and Thrift Center Pharmacy which will occupy two of the largest stores in the complex. Negotiations are in process of leasing of an additional major unit to a 5 and 10 cent chain store. Space is also being sought by a cafeteria, dress shop, shoe store, self-service laundry, and finance company, Brown said. Brown's project is the first major shopping center to be constructed in Bay St. Louis since the opening of Winn-Dixie in 1958.

Board of Supervisors. Each of these use a tax rate expressed in mills per dollar of value of the property or millage.

Hancock is a large county and the millage rate is assessed over the entire county. If property values sky rocket only in the coastal region of the county, millage can't be reduced along the coast properties to give coastal residents relief, they must be reduced uniformly over the entire county.

Well, that to-do was in 2002. What about today?

The law reads that Ladner must complete a full assessment of all properties in the county every four years. Guess what, property values in 2004-5 have increased phenomenally. Furthermore, the expected increases due to the proposed condos will make this year's increases seem like minor skirmishes. The increase in values in 2006 will be high. How high? As the man at Hubbard's said, "sky high."

For some people who will sell their home and leave, fine. But if you elect to stay, you have a problem. As your property values goes up so will your property taxes. Not a little, a lot.

Pity the poor guy on Aiken Road.

This is the nasty, well-hidden sting in blossoming property values.

Think about it. Obviously, people living on Beach Boulevard will see astronomical increases in their taxes. However, not as obvious is that the people on Blue Meadow Road and Aiken Road will have their taxes increased as well. Not as high, but if they are on a fixed income, the increases to them will have the same devastating effect.

There can be some help if the taxing agencies change their millage rate (and I believe that they should, they are too high), but with the tremendous soaring in values it is impossible to equably change the millage to help property owners on a fixed income, especially retirees.

This is the major point that I am trying to emphasize.

Mississippi has no law that will protect retirees caught in this bind. Other states have wisely enacted laws to give these people relief. Louisiana has a law that states that when homeowners reach the age of 65, the value at which their home is appraised during that year will remain the same until the home is sold or the homeowners die. Florida residents are protected by Amendment 10, which stipulates that property assessments can only increase a maximum of 3% a year until the property changes hands.

Both of these laws protect property owners who love the area in which they live, not make a fast buck and move on. Mississippi has no such law.

We need the same type of legislative protection. I strongly suggest you contact your Mississippi legislators. We don't have too much time. Property values are going up and whatever values present at the time of such a law enactment will be the base for any taxation. Do it before the 2006 assessments.

NOTICE OF TAX INCREASE

The Hancock County School District will hold a public hearing on its proposed school district budget for fiscal year 2005-2006 on Thursday, July 7, 2005 at 5:30 p.m. at the office of the Superintendent. At this meeting a proposed ad valorem tax effort increase shall be considered.

The Hancock County School District is now operating with a projected total budget revenue of $31,339,759. 32.41 % or $10,157,130 of such revenue is obtained through ad valorem taxes. For the next fiscal year, the proposed budget has total projected revenue of $33,257,230. Of that amount, 31.64% or $10,523,925, is proposed to be financed through a total ad valorem tax levy.

For the next fiscal year, the Hancock County School District plans to increase Ad valorem tax efforts by less than one mill (Current millage - 47.64).

This increase in ad valorem tax revenue means that you will pay more in Hancock County School District Ad valorem taxes on your home, automobile tag, utilities, business fixtures and equipment and rental real property.

Any citizen of the Hancock County School District is invited to attend this public hearing on the proposed ad valorem tax increase, and will be allowed to speak for a reasonable amount of time and offer tangible evidence before any vote is taken.

HNCE goes to Mexico

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Hancock North Central Elementary 5th grade students in Natasha Higginbotham's class recently participated in a joint learning activity with Stacy Schiro-Necaise's Spanish class from Hancock High School.

The elementary students spent several weeks studying aspects such as the culture, geography, and language from the country of Mexico.

The learning culminated as the students hosted an afternoon fiesta where Necaise's high school students taught Higginbotham's class how to create Mexican yarn art work and presented the students with a hand-made sombrero piñata.

The elementary students then gave the Spanish class miniature hand-made chili pepper piñatas.

Following the piñata breaking ritual, the joint learning activity ended with all students sharing a dessert of Mexican smores.

Southern Miss School of Nursing students receive academic awards

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The University of Southern Mississippi's School of Nursing recognized more than 11 students who graduated at the May 2005 ceremony for exceptional academic performance during enrollment of the program.

Three students were awarded the National Dean's List Award, which recognizes students who are in the top 10 percent of their graduating class based on the highest overall grade point average.

Recipients include Donna Bauer (Gulfport), Suzanne Bennett (Ocean Springs) and Crystal Phalp (Meridian).

Donna Bauer, Suzanne Bennett, Shannon Hoffman (Gulfport) and Crystal Phalp were all awarded the National Collegiate Nursing Award. This award is presented to students who have a GPA of 3.0 and display dependability, responsibility, citizenship, enthusiasm and leadership skills.

Suzanne Bennett also graduated summa cum laude and received the Latin Distinction Award for maintaining a 3.25 GPA and completing a scholarly paper.

The Jerri Laube Morgan Award, named in honor of the previous dean of the School of Nursing, is awarded to a student who is active in community service, has a GPA of 3.25 or greater and is a nontraditional undergraduate student.

Donna Bauer received this award.

A student who demonstrates an awareness of professional/social responsibilities and leadership and makes contributions to the community through service, student organizations and class activities receives the Nursing Eagle Award. Suzanne Bennett was the recipient of this award.

Crystal Phalp received the Elizabeth C. Harkins Award for maintaining the highest nursing GPA.

This award is named after Sister Elizabeth C. Harkins, founder of the nursing program.

Also, nine students were inducted and recognized for the Southern Miss chapter Sigma Theta Tau, a national honor society of nursing. The recipients were Amy Barber (Bay St. Louis), Suzanne Bennett, Jennifer Bickel (Gulfport), Kristal Cromer (Vanceleave), Jessica Cummings (Collins), Kristie Evans (Waveland), Candace Nelson (Ocean Springs), Stacey Oppel (Gulfport) and Crystal Phalp.

Kergosien top scorer in Duke Talent Search

James Kergosien, a student at Bay Catholic Elementary, has for the second year in a row been awarded Duke University's top scorer medal for the 4th/5th grade talent search.

Academically talented fourth and fifth grade students are invited by the university to compete in the talent search by taking the eighth grade level ACT Explore test in their fifth and sixth grade years.

This year's talent search tested 7,354 students. James was one of 304 students to score in the 99th percentile and be awarded a top scorer medal.

Bobby Lamb, owner, Atlantic Marine.

We are so fortunate to live in an area where boating is one of our main recreations. This is due to the many waterways which include the Gulf of Mexico, the Mississippi Sound, The Bay of St. Louis and the many rivers, bayous and canals, not to mention the abundance of fish in these areas as well. No matter what your boating or fishing preference is, there is a business in town that can handle all your boating needs. Atlantic Marine has been your number one boat source since 1992, consistently providing great service, selection and value.

Atlantic Marine does not encourage "pushy" sales tactics but does have a staff of knowledgeable and courteous employees who are ready, willing and able to help you.

Atlantic Marine offers everything from bay boats to offshore catamarans and everything in between including pontoon boats. You will find a great selection from Sea Chaser, Carolina Skiff, Pioneer, Crest, Crestliner, Pro Kat, and Sea Cat. They also sell Honda, Yamaha and Mercury Motors but are able to service all makes and models. Atlantic Marine has two certified mechanics on staff and one certified rigger for installation of new motors.

Here's an idea... repower your old boat with a new four stroke engine from Atlantic Marine. This new engine technology is more fuel efficient, reliable and cost effective and you'll spend more time on the water and less in the shop.

New owner Bobby Lamb was employed at Atlantic Marine for the past nine years. Boats have always been a passion for him so owning his own boat store is a dream come true. Bobby's philosophy of "Do it right the first time" assures his valued customers the best service possible.

Whether your love is fishing or pleasure boating, Atlantic Marine has the right craft for you. Visit the Atlantic Marine showroom soon located at 203 Highway 90 in Waveland, right next to Henderson Ford. For more information call 467-2847.

It's What's on the Inside That Counts

One of the first real jobs I had as a young man was working on the railroad. In the middle of one particular day, I recall the track foreman telling all the new workers to go to the railroad doctor for a physical examination. At the time, we were all quite dirty and sweaty from working, and I apologized to the doctor because we didn't get a chance to clean up before seeing him. Surprisingly, the doctor didn't seem to mind, and he remarked that the dirt on the outside didn't matter; he was more interested in what was on the inside of the workers. Our Heavenly Father is also like the doctor—he is more interested in what is in our hearts than in our exterior, outward appearance. The Bible tells us that God alone knows the hearts of men and He will deal with each person as they deserve. However, sometimes we may put more importance on a person's exterior than we should. Although it is probably only human nature to be more friendly to an attractive, well-groomed person than to someone who is unkempt, a person with a kind and gentle heart may prove to be a more reliable friend, regardless of their appearance. Our Lord never looks at a person's outward appearance. He is only concerned with what is inside our hearts.

*Truly God is good to the upright,
To those who are pure in heart.*

AREA DEVOTIONAL &amp; DIRECTORY PAGES

Once bitten, twice shy a good maxim

Second shark victim has leg amputated" was the second page-one shark attack headline in three days. At least this victim, Craig Adam Hutto of Lebanon, Tennessee, is going to live, although doctors had to amputate his badly mutilated right leg.

However, Jamie Marie Daigle of Gonzales, Louisiana, the victim who was savagely slashed three days before, suffered the loss of so much blood that the shock killed her in a very short time. The beaches were closed for a day, then barely reopened before Craig was attacked by a shark while fishing in waist-deep water off the Florida Panhandle.

Each year, 70 or so shark attacks take place around the world, but almost half of these happen in Florida. How is it that Florida has so many more shark attacks than the area around the Great Barrier Reef of Australia or the myriads of tropical coasts of the world?

Well, there are so many great whites and other man-eaters around the Great Barrier Reef that the Australians have protected themselves with a massive network of steel netting and numerous lifeguards to protect swimmers by warning them of nearby sharks.

However, that is a relatively weak reason for the huge disparity in the numbers of shark attack victims. There has to be a lot more to it than huge man-eating sharks near prime locations such as the Great Barrier Reef. Here is where the sundry experts go their separate ways in assigning causes for frequent attacks around the coasts of Florida.

Maybe it is the overwhelming presence of bull sharks around the Panhandle area in particular which are aggressive, have poor eyesight, and wander close in shallow water to forage for the fish they crave. Their shallow wanderings put them in touch with waders and swimmers, and their poor sight apparently causes them to mistake humans for food.

But is that all there is? Is that the extent of it? Experts differ on this, but then we know how experts, such as psychiatrists, routinely testify in court, some in favor of accused killers, some against those same accused killers. Besides, we know that famous analysis of the word expert: ex is a has-been, spurt is a drip under pressure.

Be that as it may, one lot of experts comes down hard against those who engage in shark feeding/baiting/drumming as a tool for congregating sharks for thrill-seeking tourist sightseers and divers. As all other animals do, ravenous sharks react instantly and consistently to feeding time whenever and wherever that is.

Naturally, we know why most people do all that baiting. It is mainly the tour guides and companies which want to feature a hot, spine-tingling commodity for the thrills of their paying customers. So, as the saying goes, whatever it takes to deliver those thrills and satisfaction to the tourists is what the tour guides and companies do. Why does it take studies to determine whether these same sharks will be hanging around the feeding area much of the time, especially when feedings take place? They are displaying behavior known and witnessed through the animal kingdom. So what surprise is there that shark attacks occur most near places where sharks have a vested interest?

On the other hand, there are these sage experts who have baited sharks and their scientific interests and guests, and yet claim no more frequency of shark attacks than anywhere else in their experience or hearsay about problems encountered by others. I do believe these experts are not very proficient in the uncommon art of common sense.

My greatest preoccupation about such expert testimony is that, despite the fact that these people are scientists, they are giving anecdotal evidence mainly about what goes on in their own underwater operations. In other words, their testimony gives me little or no comfort should I decide to step into waters known to have sharks.

Having swum in the Florida Panhandle with seahorses like Father Francis Theriault, SVD, and others during my seminary days, I feel that I have a personal stake in this whole discussion. Granted, it was a different day and age when we were swimming here and there in the 1950s with fewer people around and fewer points of contact with sharks.

Still, there are some constants here, and one constant is that, back in yesteryear when we were swimming so much, people were not feeding, baiting, drumming sharks the way they do now. We did not have routine-spoiled sharks looking for the latest handout.

Happily, after a decade of bitter wrangling between the Florida Wildlife Commission, the powerful tour guide lobby and the Florida legislature where the almighty dollar was shouting loudly against common sense, shark feeding was outlawed throughout the state.

First, the Florida Wildlife Commission voted a complete ban on the feeding marine wildlife on September 6, 2001. The shark feeding businesses countered with a barrage of rhetoric against "evil government," a strategy which was endorsed by companies such as the California-based dive industry marketing group.

In a landmark decision on November 1, 2001, Florida became the first state in the U.S. to prohibit divers from feeding marine wildlife. Exactly one year later, the ban on shark feeding became law in Florida. Yet, the ban seems to leave part of the issue unresolved.

That unresolved part of the issue is undoubtedly the further application of common sense. A super no-no would appear to be: Do not venture into waters where sharks are known to visit unless there is a lifeguard plus other safety precautions.

Sharks or no sharks, do not commit the marine mortal sin of swimming alone. Even the most experienced swimmer can encounter situations where being alone becomes the ultimate hazard, such as being accidentally knocked unconscious, or being attacked.

Do not swim in waters whose underwater debris you do not know about, whose marine wildlife you have doubts about; in short, whose atmosphere and environs shout out to you that only a foolish daredevil or somnolent dreamer would venture to test those waters.

The responsibility of a being a Christian

When a person is redeemed he is not only a child of God, he is a servant of the King of Kings.

Their responsibility is to serve the Lord, that the kingdom of God is advanced. God's kingdom is not advanced by just warming a pew and dropping a few dollars in the collection plate. One must put His gift in action. Every person that God created was given a gift. Eph 4:8. Wherefore he says, when He ascended up on high, He led captivity, captive, and gave gifts unto men.

Some people are given the gift of singing. How often have you heard they have a God given voice? However, is that voice singing for the glory of God? Or for the world?

There are those who are blessed with much financial wealth. Is it being used to help the poor, the orphan, the widow, the starving children in the world? The Almighty is a good book keeper.

He wants a return on His investment. He has a ledger.

The gift of witnessing, teaching, preaching, expressing one's self with carefully chosen words, can influence a lost soul. It will have quite an impact that can put a person on the road to heaven. That gift must be Bible centered, not a social gospel.

Dear writer, you might say, I don't know my gift, as of yet. Well, seek God about that.

However, there is a wonderful thing you can do for God's children: sponsor one. Give an orphaned child a life.

The best religious one I know is World Vision, 1-800-777-5777.

Oh! How wonderful that would be for that child says God Almighty.

To think you can play a part in that advancement of God's kingdom.

Praise His Holy name.

Consider Jesus

What can we do to get people to consider the claims of the Bible and the claims of Christ? For one thing we can stop this nonsense that faith has no rational basis or proof. There is actually plenty of evidence that the Bible is an authentic and reliable book. There is also sufficient evidence that Jesus Christ is actually the Son of God who was raised from the dead. But we have this silly idea that the things of religion are not scientifically verifiable. So we have tossed God out of the classroom. He is not someone or something we can deal with in our physical world. He is not someone we can actually wrestle with in our minds. He is in the great beyond. He is the wholly other God. All I've got to say is, "Bibb wassh!" We may not be able to see God directly with our eyes, but God is revealing Himself. Listen to what the Bible says about God, "Since the creation of the world His invisible attributes, His eternal power and divine nature, have been clearly seen, being understood through what has been made" (Romans 1:20). The invisible God is revealed in and through creation. His power and divine nature are clearly seen and understood through His creation. "The heavens declare the glory of God" (Psalm 19:1). That's one great point. Here is a second point that cannot be missed. Jesus Christ was a historical figure. He lived and died in Palestine. There is absolutely no doubt about this. The historical records about his life and death can be verified. They would stand up in a court of law. They would also stand the test of rigid scientific inquiry. So people today must consider the God of the Bible. They must consider Jesus, the Son of God. Will you consider Jesus?

Local cadet graduates from West Point

Cadet Daryl R. Acker, son of Clarence and Shirley Acker of Pearlinton, graduated from the U.S. Military Academy on May 28.

Acker graduated from Hancock High School in 2000. While at West Point, he concentrated his studies in System Engineering and was commissioned a second lieutenant, branched Armor and will attend an Officer Basic Course at Ft. Knox, KY. He may soon after join an active Army unit - working alongside the men and women currently fighting the global war on terrorism.

The mission of West Point is to educate, train, and inspire the Corps of Cadets so that each graduate is a com-

Beau Rivage welcomes stunning new show direct from Russia

THE SEA COAST ECHO The Beau Rivage Theatre transforms as Beau Rivage's sizzling new production show takes center stage through November 20. Krasnaya, Russian for beautiful, is choreographed by Alla Duhova, Russia's top choreographer, and features dancers from the country's top dance company Tode.

Krasnaya centers around dance with amazing acts of athleticism entwined to keep audiences on the edge of their seats," said Terry Burden, vice president of entertainment at Beau Rivage and the show's co-producer. The 85-minute production features a cast of 42 Russian performers. "Alla Duhova is the most respected and sought-after choreographer in Russia, and this show is a testament to her amazing talent and eye for perfection."

Duhova, recently named top business woman of the year by Russian Prime Minister Putin, operates 25 dance schools and studios throughout Russia, Latvia, the Ukraine, and other former countries formerly part of the Soviet Union. One American dance aficionado describes her as "today's Russian answer to Bob Fosse."

Galina Kubrak, president of Tarragon West Entertainment, says it has been many years since a Russian dance company has burst on the scene with the excitement of a Moiseyev or the Bolshoi, and with the modern "cutting edge" style and choreography of Duhova, it is a must see experience. "Her work results in spectacular performances with Rockette precision and racetrack speed," said Kubrak. "Plans are underway for a U.S. national tour of this superb Tode group, with performances in major theaters throughout the country beginning next fall."

Krasnaya is a unique blend of this unequalled dance company and the best of the world famous Russian Circus. The acts, hand-picked by Burden, include the "Sphere," a breathtaking aerial display of precision balance and daring moves performed by Anastasia Vasilenko inside and outside of a transparent sphere suspended high over the Beau Rivage stage. "Thorn" is a masterful performance of four petite Russian beauties, offering gravity defying balance on an apparatus that may resemble the "jacks" you picked up as a child. Samoylova, Yulia Tsepova, Zhanna Aminova and Aleksandra Mikhaylova capture your full attention as they weave their way in and out of beautiful and sometimes dangerous balancing feats. And if it's a little spice you fancy, you'll love the "Aquarium" and the magical underwater performance of Margarita Khasanova.

Finally, witness some of the fastest, highest and most astounding acrobatics performed at breakneck speed by the Mayorov Troupe. Headed by world-renowned gymnast/acrobat Igor Mayorov, nine of Russia's top acrobatic athletes and one powerful girl astound audiences with their zany antics and pure athletic skills.

Weaving throughout all of this "edge of your seat" talent, you'll laugh till you cry with the traditional (and sometimes not so traditional) humor by some of Europe's most recognized clowns, jugglers and characters. Armen Asirvants and Dmitry Vasilenko will have you holding your sides with their show-stopping surprises.

Individual tickets are $22.95 and $29.95 plus tax and service fee. Show times include 7:30 p.m. Monday-Thursday; 7:00 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. on Saturday; and 3:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. on Sunday; no performances on Friday. For tickets, contact the Beau Rivage Ticket Office at (888) 566-7469. Krasnaya room packages start at $85 per person and include deluxe accommodations and a ticket to the show. For reservations or information, call (888) 566-6667 or visit www.beaurivage.com.

Fireworks at Bay Magic

Make plans to watch the biggest and brightest fireworks show of 2005 at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis on July 3rd at 9 p.m. Hundreds of dazzling fireworks will be shot from a barge on the bay and reflect over the water in awe-inspiring brilliance. The show is free and open to the public. Parking is free and available at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis. Fireworks can be viewed from the west side of the casino. Those watching the show from a boat, are reminded to stay at least 500 feet away from the fireworks barge to avoid debris.

Family Best Bets

Sunday

8 a.m. on DSC

When Dinosaurs Roamed America
You might just forget you're watching computer-generated critters, so realistic are the stars of this latest dinosaur special. It focuses on the species that lived on the North American continent, from the ever-popular Tyrannosaurus to the lesser-known but equally fearsome Rallodon. John Goodman narrates the two-hour program.

Monday

3:30 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Curly Sue

The heartwarming 1991 romantic comedy, written and directed by John Hughes, stars James Belushi as a down-and-out drifter who travels with a pint-sized, cute-as-a-button companion (Aileen Porter). After the two pull a con on a tough Chicago attorney (Kelly Lynch) to get money for food, the attorney is surprised to find herself drawn to the pair. John Goodman and Fred Dalton Thompson also star.

Tuesday

7 a.m. on HBO

Movie: Wild Hearts Can't Be Broken

The horses didn't really dive — they fell at fast speeds into the water. However, this 1991 heartwarming tale of a young woman's determination to ride diving horses nearly overrides the compassion for the equines. Sonora (Gabrielle Anwar) is a runaway with a dream, which almost is crushed by blindness. With the help of friends and the love of a good horse, Sonora makes her dreams come true. Michael Schoeffling and Kathleen York co-star.

Wednesday

6 a.m. and HBO

Movie: Mr. Holland's Opus

Richard Dreyfuss shines in this heartwarming, tear-jerking 1995 drama as an aspiring composer who takes a "temporary" job as a high-school music teacher to make ends meet. Many years and many heartaches later, it becomes clear that his greatest masterpiece is not a work of music, but the hundreds of young lives he's changed. Glenn Close, Olympia Dukakis and Alicia Witt also star.

Thursday

8:45 a.m. on HBO

Movie: My Antonia

Neil Patrick Harris stars as a Nebraska teenager living in the late 1800s. He's got life pretty easy compared to Antonia (Elina Lowensohn), an immigrant living with her family in poor conditions. They become friends, but conflict arises when his feelings for her deepen. Jason Robards, Eva Marie Saint, Jan Triska and Mira Furlan also star in the 1995 drama based on Willa Cather's novel.

Saturday

7 p.m. on 49-PAX

Movie: The Babe

This 1992 dramatization of Babe Ruth's personal and professional lives stars John Goodman as the baseball legend. For those who are die-hard Babe fans, the facts may not add up, but Goodman does a credible job of imitation. Kelly McGillis, Trini Alvarado, Bruce Boxleitner, Peter Donat and James Cromwell co-star.

TV Trivia

Rob Reiner ("The American President") co-founded the I Am Your Child Foundation, which advocates early childhood education.

Erik Estrada ("Moya & Miguel") worked at a coin laundry and as an interpreter to pay for his education at the American Musical Dramatic Academy.

Haley Scott ("Allen") studied at the West Hartlepool College of Art and London's Royal College of Art, then became a set designer.

Owen Wilson ("Starsky & Hutch") was thrown out of school during 10th grade but still managed to attend the University of Texas.

Cate Blanchett ("The Aviator") took a job as a movie extra in a boxing film after she found herself stranded in Egypt with no money.

Sunday Best Bets

12 p.m. on ESPN
IndyCar Racing

Argent Mortgage got more than its money's worth as the title sponsor of the Indy 300 last year when the drivers, they also co-sponsor, Buddy Rice and Vitor Meira, swept the top two positions. The two traded leads six times in the final nine laps before Rice nudged his teammate in the second-closest finish in IRL history. Rice could use another top finish in Kansas today to make up for lost standing points when a practice crash kept him out of the Indy 500.

6 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Movie: The Lost World: Jurassic Park
Dinosaurs make it to the mainland in this 1997 sequel to Steven Spielberg's first giant-lizard thriller. A researcher and her boyfriend (Julianne Moore, Jeff Goldblum) head for a remote island to study more of John Hammond's (Richard Attenborough) miraculous reptiles, but trouble follows as interlopers compromise the controlled environment.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
Extreme Makeover: Home Edition

The two-part "Anderson Family" marks the first time the "Extreme" team missed its deadline, taking an extra day to finish its project. It was worth the wait, however, for Rodney Anderson, a college basketball star and honor student who was shot and paralyzed by gangbangers who mistook him for a rival gang member. Hundreds pitch in to replace the family's small and rundown home with something new and wheelchair-accessible. Ty Pennington hosts.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Cold Case In "Discretions," Lilly (Kathryn Morris) and the team re-examine the murder of an ambitious assistant district attorney. Several years after his death, he's in the news again, with headlines linking him to some missing funds, and his wife wants his name cleared. The investigation yields some startling information about the case that the victim was prosecuting at the time of his death.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS
Movie: Shanghai Noon

Talk about "East meets West." Jackie Chan shows off his usual eye-popping martial-arts moves in this lighthearted tale set in 1880s Nevada. His character, Chon Wang, is there to help rescue a kidnapped Chinese princess (Lucy Liu) with a little help from a laid-back train robber and an American Indian woman. (Owen Wilson, Brandon Merrill)

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Criminal Intent

A scientist dies of radiation poisoning, and Goren and Eames (Vincent D'Onofrio, Kathryn Erbe) question a colleague (guest star Austin Pendleton), a brilliant physicist with a controversial theory about the definition of the universe. He may be a brain, but the detectives think his trophy wife might be the mastermind behind this death in "Inert Dwarf."

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

7 p.m. on 4-CBS Everybody Loves Raymond

Ally (Madylin Sweeten) comes home with a report card that alarms Ray and Debra (Ray Romano, Patricia Richardson). She flunks math, causing her surprised parents to wonder what the problem is. Debra thinks Ally just isn't paying attention in class, but Ray suspects it's the teacher's fault, and berates Debra for not sticking up for her daughter. Doris Roberts and Peter Boyle also star in "Ally's E."

8 p.m. on 6-NBC Macy's 4th of July Fireworks Spectacular: The Light of Freedom

There's nothing like watching fireworks live, but if you can't get to your local show — or your town celebrated the Fourth on the second or third and left you wanting more — there's always this annual event from the Big Apple. Stirling music accompanies the pyrotechnics as they light up the skyline. Mariah Carey is among those scheduled to perform.

8 p.m. on HBO Six Feet Under

In the new episode, "Eat a Peach," George (James Cromwell) tries to get closer to Ruth (Frances Conroy), who is resisting and finds a new way to release her tension. David and Keith (Michael C. Hall, Matthew St. Patrick) meet a special child while awaiting an update from Mary. Julio (Giancarlo Rodriguez) gets into trouble at school, and Rico (Freddie Rodriguez) smooths things over, to the embarrassment of Vanessa (Justina Machado).

8:30 p.m. on 19-PBS A Capitol Fourth

Barry Bostwick ("Spin City") returns as host of the musical celebration, which celebrates its own 25th birthday this year along with the nation's 225th. The performer line-up includes the Beach Boys, the O'Jays, Gloria Estefan and Irish tenor Ronan Tynan. Erich Kunzel conducts the National Symphony Orchestra.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC An American Celebration at Ford's Theatre: A Salute to the Troops

Jeff Foxworthy hosts this all-star celebration of American entertainment from the Washington, D.C., theater. The lineup includes actress Geena Davis, actress-singer Hilary Duff, "American Idol" alumnus Josh Gracin, actor-singer Jesse McCartney ("Summerland"), country singer Julie Roberts and mezzo-soprano Donyce Graves.

The Trojan War story is retold without the gods and goddesses of Homer's original in this 2004 adventure. Brad Pitt stars as Achilles, the great Greek warrior who fights more for his ego than for his king (Brian Cox) — to the latter's dismay. Orlando Bloom plays Paris, the Trojan prince whose affair with the lovely Helen (Diane Kruger) sets the war in motion.

(Hugh Laurie) decision to invite Chase's (Jesse Spencer) father to join the diagnostic team doesn't sit well with his colleagues in "Cursed."

MTV's the 70s House
Twelve young adults are trapped in a time warp in this new "Big Brother"-style reality series. The house they're sharing is outfitted as if it was the 1970s, and soon they are, too, wearing leisure suits and dancing the hustle. A variety of '70s celebrities are scheduled to stop by and administer weekly challenges, including a disco dancing contest and a beauty pageant. Bill Dwyer and Natasha Leggero play Bert and Dawn, the groovy hosts.

Dancing With the Stars

Whose footwork is fanciest? Whose moves are smoothest? That's up for the viewers and the judges to decide, and their chosen couple is crowned tonight. Expect some eye-popping dance maneuvers as the results of all that training pay off for the winners in the season finale. Tom Bergeron and Lisa Canning host.

Carrie (Leah Remini) dislikes a certain scent that Doug (Kevin James) favors and tells him not to wear it. While he tells his friends that Carrie doesn't control him, the fact that he can only wear the cologne when she's not around makes him realize that she does indeed. Arthur (Jerry Stiller) tries to repay Spence and Holly (Patton Oswalt, Nicole Sullivan) by sneaking them into the movies.

In "Krypto," Lois (Erica Durance) brings home a dog she accidentally hit and nurses it back to health. This pooch is more than healthy; it's Superdog! Lois and Clark (Tom Welling) find out the dog is the result of an experiment at Luthor Corp. and some bad guys are using it as an accomplice. Then Lois is kidnapped, and with Clark weakened by kryptonite, her new canine friend is her only chance to escape.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

In "Locomotion," 11 people die when a vehicle parked on railroad tracks is hit by a train. Fontana and Falco's (Dennis Farina, Michael Imperioli) investigation leads them to a despondent construction worker who claims the only one he was trying to kill was himself. McCoy's, (Sam Waterston) prosecution is hampered by the other side's talk of an insanity defense and by a bombshell the defendant drops in court.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

American Masters

The 90-minute profile "Satchmo" remembers jazz legend Louis Armstrong, known as much for his trademark gravelly singing voice and 1,000-watt smile as for his skill on the trumpet. Interviews, performance footage, home movies and his own writings trace the life of the poor-boy — and reform-school alumnus — from New Orleans who grew up to be one of jazz's greatest influences.

8:30 p.m. on 4-CBS

Yes Dear

The house next door to Greg and Kim (Anthony Clark, Jean Louisa Kelly) is for sale. They take an instant liking to one pair of prospective buyers (Shelley Long, Alan Thicke), whom Jimmy and Christine (Mike O'Malley, Liza Snyder) can't stand. The Hugheses try to discourage the couple from buying the house so they can snag it themselves, while Greg takes equally drastic measures to keep Christine and Jimmy from getting it in "The New Neighbors."

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: NY

A tour bus is carrying more than sightseers through the Big Apple; it's also transporting a skeleton, as one passenger discovers in "American Dreamers." Mack (Gary Sinise) and his forensics team must determine whether the bones are the actual remains of someone, and testing links them to a youngster who vanished 17 years earlier. Susan Ruttan ("L.A. Law") guest stars.

Friday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Movie: Joy Ride

A prank turns deadly for two brothers (Paul Walker, Steve Zahn) and their traveling companion (Liese Sobieski) in director John Dahl's ("The Last Seduction") no-frills 2001 thriller. After the siblings tease a trucker via citizens band radio, he sets out to even the score in a multitude of ways. The road ultimately leads to a motel and a vicious showdown among the principals.

7 p.m. on 28-ABC on 13-ABC

8 Simple Rules

Cate's (Katey Sagal) kids have differing reactions to her new job in "School Nurse." Bridget and Kerry (Kaley Cuoco, Amy Davidson) fear she wants to keep closer tabs on them, while Rory (Martin Spanjer) sees her as his possible savior. Cate inadvertently lets many others know about a very personal encounter Kerry had in Europe. Adam Arkin guest stars.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

What I Like About You

In "Ghost of a Chance," several couples dress up as famous duos for Halloween. Holly and Ben (Amanda Bynes, David de Lautour) pose as Sonny and Cher, Gary and Danielle (Wesley Jonathan, guest star Tamara Gray) impersonate Ike and Tina Turner, and Vince and Tina (Nick Zano, Allison Munn) outfit themselves as Homer and Marge Simpson. Lauren (Leslie Grossman) takes Val (Jennie Garth) to a nudist resort.

7 p.m. on TNT

Into the West

The Transcontinental Railroad project is the backdrop for "Hell on Wheels." Margaret and Ethan (Irene Bedard, Daniel Gillies) are caught in the crossfire when the Army breaks its pledge to spare a Cheyenne village, and Margaret elects to stay with the tribe, while Jacob Jr. (Tyler Christopher) joins Custer's cavalry. Clara's (Rachel Leigh Cook) cousin Daniel (Lance Henniken) sets up a portable way station to serve the rail workers.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

JAG

A top-secret F-14 crashes near a schoolyard in California, sending Harm (David James Elliott) to a nearby Navy weapons research center. He learns that the plane was on a test flight for a laser-weapon being produced by an outside contractor. Bud (Patrick Labyorteaux) attends an anger management class. Catherine Bell and David Andrews also star in "Automatic for the People."

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Reba

Jake (Mitch Holloman) enters Reba (Reba McEntire) in a beauty pageant for grandmothers, upsetting Barbara Jean (Melissa Peterman), who enters the competition not so much for the crown as for the title of Grandma with in the family. McEntire's and Peterman's moms guest star as pageant contestants in "The Pageant of Grandmas."

8:30 p.m. on 28-ABC on 13-ABC

Less Than Perfect

Claude's (Sara Rue) former flame (guest star Josh Braaten) returns to GNB, and they decide to try again. At Ramona's (Sherril Shepherd) urging, Claude decides to wear some sexy lingerie for the occasion but regrets the decision when she's strip-searched at work. The return of the studio tour puts pressure on Ramona and Owen (Andy Dick) in "You Can Leave the Lights On."

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

NUMB3RS

While investigating the murders of two teenagers, Don (Rob Morrow) and his colleagues uncover a counterfeiting ring and a surprising link to the disappearance of another victim, an artist. He asks Charlie (David Krumholtz) to help by using his mathematical skills to figure out where the fake cash has been passed. In the hope that this will lead him to the counterfeiters.

In Focus

Mariah Carey is back on the entertainment scene these days, and it won't hurt her pipes to be among cheering revelers as she headlines the "Macy's Fourth of July Fireworks Spectacular" Monday, July 4, on NBC.

Other celebrities also will be on hand, but as always, the true "stars" of the show will be the colorful spray of lights that burst above Manhattan and cap the historical holiday in a memorable way.

Pop star John Mayer blends a blues influence into his music, which makes for an entertaining evening when he teams up with blues legend Buddy Guy in a new two-part installment of the PBS series "Soundstage," beginning Thursday, July 7. Expect to hear Mayer's hits "No Such Thing" and "Your Body Is a Wonderful Land," but enjoy listening to him team with Guy on tunes like "Come Back to Bed" and "Damn Right, I Got the Blues."

Saturday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 28-ABC on 13-ABC

Movie: The Emperor's New Groove
Hardly the traditional sort of Disney fantasy, this animated 2000 comedy focuses on a young monarch (voice of David Spade) who makes the mistake of angering one of his aides (voice of Eartha Kitt). She uses her magic to turn him into a llama, and he needs the help of a peasant (voice of John Goodman) to return to his normal life.

7 p.m. on FAM

Movie: Nothing to Lose
They might seem oddly matched, but Martin Lawrence and Tim Robbins generate laughs in writer-director Steve Oedekerk's 1997 comedy. An advertising man (Robbins) is in the midst of a very bad day when he's targeted by a catnapper (Lawrence) who gets more than he bargained for from his supposed victim, John C. McGinley ("Scrubs") and Kelly Preston co-star.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Anchorman: The Legend of Ron Burgundy

A television newscaster's (Will Ferrell) world is rocked by the arrival of a new colleague (Christina Applegate) in this 2004 comedy set in the 1970s. Not content to just look pretty and cover traditional "girly" stories, she makes it clear that she wants to be his equal — and maybe even his replacement. Personal sparks between them complicate things further. Paul Rudd, Vince Vaughn, Steve Carell and Fred Willard also star.

7:30 p.m. on 5-FOX on 25-FOX

Cops
This "High Crimes Special Edition" focuses on drug cases. In Santa Ana, Calif., police stop a vehicle in a neighborhood known for drug activity, and the passenger tries to swallow the evidence. In Las Vegas, an officer investigates when a man is reported to have passed out in his vehicle at a gas station for four hours. He claims to have spent the morning looking for his keys.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Cold Case

An apparent snuff movie puts Lilly and Volens (Kathryn Morris, Danny Pino) on a new probe of a 25-year-old murder case in "Dahleia." Two then-teenagers played as adults by guest stars Brian Cousins and Fritz Greve) lured a young woman into making the film, but they now insist she wasn't killed for real — prompting the police detectives to determine why she was never seen again.

8 p.m. and HALL

Movie: The Loh

Ryan Merriman ("The Pretender," "The Deep End of the Ocean") stars in this new drama as a young Union soldier whose horse "Gives Birth" in the midst of battle. He sergeant (Steve Backi) wants the sick shot, but he refuses, and it ends up becoming a source of strength and hope for the young trooper when he becomes separated from his comrades. Darcy Belsher ("We All Fall Down") also stars.
